New Easy-To-Assemble Outdoor Kitchen Islands from SABER

Bring You One Step Closer to Your Dream Outdoor Kitchen

COLUMBUS, GA – February 2016 - Saber Grills has unveiled a new line of stylish, quick assembly outdoor kitchen islands, giving homeowners an easy way to create or upgrade their outdoor entertaining space. The islands come equipped with SABER premium natural gas grills and commercial grade stainless steel refrigerators, drop-in ice chests, and storage drawers.

For years, outdoor kitchens have been on the list of top 10 home remodeling trends. With a price range of $20-$50,000 for custom designed kitchens using premium components, installing one is sometimes cost prohibitive. These easy to assemble islands from SABER give homeowners a flexible option if budgets are limited, if space is tight, or if they are looking for a quicker installation.

SABER’s EZ Outdoor Kitchen Islands are manufactured in the USA and are among the most versatile islands on the market: They are made of lightweight but heavy-duty coated aluminum rather than stucco or stone so they can be used on wooden decks, and can be moved if you change residences or redesign your outdoor area. They are equipped with the most popular components used in large, custom-designed outdoor kitchens. They include only commercial grade 304 stainless steel components that are built to last. They were manufactured for easy set up -- they come with a pre-wired GFCI outlet, use one common fastener, weigh less than 150 pounds without the components, and can be assembled in less than one hour. And at seven feet long, the islands are sized right to fit in a variety of spaces.

“Outdoor kitchens continue to grow in popularity but installing one with well-crafted components can be cost-prohibitive or too time-intensive for some homeowners,” said Gary Butler, general manager, Saber Grills, LLC. “This is an easy, attainable solution that doesn’t sacrifice quality materials or cooking performance. Our goal was to create a better option than what currently exists today – in terms of price, versatility and construction.”

The SABER EZ Outdoor Kitchen I Series includes a built-in three-burner SABER grill, an 18,000 BTU dual control side burner, a drop-in ice chest and a double access door under the grill (MSRP $6,399.99).
